Thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time

We are reminded in today's Gospel what Jesus considered to be the greatest commandments: "Love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind" and "Love your neighbor as yourself." Let us renew our commitment to these commandments, resolving to follow them each and every day. Let us lift our voices in praise of our God, whose greatest command is simply to love

Love Without Measure...

Words influence how we see. Jesus knew this truth well. This is why he uses the word that he does in today's gospel. When a scribe comes us to him and ask what is he most important commandment, Jesus gives us the great double commandment of love, We are to love God and we are to love others. Who are the others, we are called to love? Everyone. It is clear from Jesus' life and teaching that we are called to love family and friends, but the stranger, the sinner, even our enemy. But in his commandment, Jesus does not say we are to love "everyone." He says we are love "our neighbor."

The word neighbor is important. The word "neighbor" means everyone, but it is a warmer term than "everyone" or "humanity." Neighbor implies proximity, closeness, a connection between those we are called to love. Jesus uses the word neighbor to remind us that every person is valuable in God's sight and that we are connected to every person insofar as, we are all sons and daughters of God. So when we love the stranger, the sinner, our enemy, we are choosing to love our neighbor.

If there is one practical lesson that we can take from this gospel it's about the words we use. The words we choose in naming people influence the attitudes we have and the decisions we make concerning them. Just stop for a moment and consider the names we use to name people on the fringe, people we choose to judge based on the stereotypes we have of them. They are rarely kind but so often harsh, judgmental, abusive and not true. A gospel of familiar words this Sunday but words with an enduring message and challenge.

Saint Noel Parish - In the name of our entire parish and all those we are privileged to serve I want to thank Saint Noel Church for once again sponsoring a fundraiser to benefit our parish and our ministries. In so many ways we are bound together as neighbors, to use a word from today's gospel. And for all of this I am grateful.

Sunday Parish Breakfast - I know I speak for our entire parish in expressing my gratitude that we have been able to begin again including Sunday breakfast on a regular basis as part of our parish calendar. Everyone is welcome and there is never any charge.

Thanksgiving Outreach - Let us together join in prayer in the weeks to come for the success of the upcoming outreach to thousands with a Thanksgiving meal. This ministry is now in the hands of Cleveland Catholic Charities.

This weekend the Cleveland Catholic Diocese is celebrating Priesthood Sunday. This is a special time to give thanks to the Master of the Harvest,

Jesus Christ, for calling the men who serve us as priests in His likeness. Priesthood Sunday inspires us to an awareness of the gift of the priesthood of Jesus Christ, an appreciation of all those who have responded to His call to follow Him, and a renewal of prayer and support for the young men who now are discerning the call.

This Wednesday, November 1st, is the Solemnity of All Saints, a Holy Day of Obligation. It is on this day that the Church honors all those who have entered into the eternal glory of Heaven - both those who have been officially "canonized" as saints in Heaven and all other deceased who have obtained

Heaven. It is all these saints that inspire us and encourage us to live the Christian life in this world so that we, too, can join them in the glory of Heaven for eternity. All the saints show us that no matter how difficult it can be to follow the Gospel message it can be done! Masses to fulfill your obligation for the Holy Day will be:

Tuesday, October 31st the Vigil Mass

Sunday Thought

In this weekend's Gospel, we hear Jesus giving us the "great commandment." Loving God and loving our neighbor as we love ourselves has become the only standard by which Jesus will measure us. This weekend possibly we can recall that for this to be our true standard, it cannot remain abstract. The object of Jesus' words must be real to people. True love must be embodied in justice and caring for those who are outcasts and powerless. They are the needy and the sick. They are the ones we love and the ones we find at times unlovable. To speak about love without actually loving our neighbor might make nice talk, but it hardly makes us a follower of Jesus.

On the Lighter Side

A priest, giving a children's sermon on vestments, asked, "Why do you think I wear this collar?"

One kid answered, "Because it kills ticks and fleas for up to 30 days?"

Family Perspectives

In today's gospel the Pharisee was talking about commandments (Something we are forced to obey by external pressure) and Jesus was talking about love (an internal exhortation to give our heart, soul and mind to another). One demands allegiance, the other requires personal commitment. In our families we daily lay down our lives for each other not because we 'gotta' but because love compels us.

Parenting Tune-Up

Children make demands of your time. How do you keep on loving them? During the day take five minutes breaks to simply close your eyes and get centered. Get all your official work organized during the day. Then in the evening, you will be able to give your family the best of you, and not what is leftover of your energy and patience!"

Relationship Tune-Up

The love commandment is hard to practice all the time! Of course, we're not perfect and we're going to fall short, but overall in your relationship would you say that your relationship is guided by love and not by competition? Research shows that we need at least five positive interactions to each negative interaction to maintain a healthy, happy relationship that can weather the normal conflicts and upsets of daily life.
