Twenty-ninth Sunday in Ordinary Time

The words from today's Gospel, "repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God," are a reminder of our struggle to integrate our lives as faithful citizens with our lives as faithful Catholics. We are obligated to do both: to bring our faith and our values to all our responsibilities, including our civic ones. May the Eucharist we receive and share today strengthen us in fulfilling our mission in every respect.

Love Without Measure...

Saint Gaspar del Bufalo was born on the feast of the Epiphany, January 6, 1789, in Rome. His parents named him after the Magi who visited the Christ child: Gaspar, Melchior Balthazar del Bufalo. It was an apt name for a man who would spend his life on a quest to fulfill the will of God.

Gaspar was raised in the hustle and bustle and activity of Rome. When Gaspar was a little boy, his father was hired as a cook for a family with royal connections, and the family moved to the Palazzo Altieri, in the heart of Rome. They lived in an apartment over the horse stable.

As a child, Gaspar suffered from a near-fatal illness, and his faith-filled mother, Annunziata dedicated him to Saint Francis de Sales. At a young age, Gaspar knew his calling, and visited the sick and the poor, often stopping at a bakery first to buy sweet treats to share with them.

He was ordained a priest in 1808, at the age of 22. Soon after he formed an evening society for the laborers and farm workers who came into Rome to sell their wares. He wanted to bring them back to the church, and to show them that, even though they struggled to survive on the streets of Rome, their lives had values.

Gaspar was caught up in the political crisis when Napoleon swept into power in the Papal States. This new anti-clerical government demanded that priests sign an oath of allegiance. Gaspar declared, "I cannot, I must not, I will not." His refusal to sign the oath led to four years of exile and imprisonment. Many priests, bishops and even the pope were exiled in those years. Away from home, unsure about his future, unable to continue in his many ministries, and depressed at the death of his beloved mother, Gaspar struggled against despair. But also during this time, mentored by Francesco Albertini, Gaspar nurtured his devotion to the Precious Blood of Jesus.

Through it all, he inspired others to follow him, growing the group that would follow him and become known as the Missionaries of the Precious Blood. Through his preaching and example, a young woman named Maria de Matias, moved by the spirituality of the Precious, founded the Adorers of the Blood of Christ in Acuto Italy in 1834. Maria de Matias was canonized in 2003.

Gaspar died on December 28 1837, in Rome, where he spent the previous summer ministering to those affected by the epidemic of cholera. The physician who examined him said Gaspar died "a victim of charity," worn out by his ministry to others.

Pope Pius XII canonized Saint Gaspar in 1954. His work continues through the Missionaries of the Precious Blood around the world. Saint Gaspar never turned back. Weakened by ailments, called a fanatic or fool by people who should have supported him, imprisoned and impoverished, and challenged at every turn, his answer to God's call was always yes. His followers continue to turn to him for inspiration, as they fulfill the wish he once expressed: "I wish that I could have a thousand tongues, to endear every heart to the Precious Blood of Jesus." Gaspar's feast day was Saturday, October 21.

This weekend, October 21st and 22nd, we unite with the global Church in celebrating World Mission Sunday. Pope Francis illuminates our path with the theme, "Hearts on fire, feet on the move." As we prepare to observe this special day, we are reminded to ignite our hearts with Christ's love and extend that warmth to the most vulnerable corners of the world. Your fervent prayers & upcoming generosity in the collection for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith will bolster the missionaries working in Africa, Asia, the Pacific Islands, and certain regions of Latin America and Europe. Let us come together to support them in their mission of love and service.

True Christian Life is the Best Witness!

The most powerful means of fulfilling the mission of Jesus (Evangelization) is by living a truly Christian life -- a life filled with love, mercy, kindness, compassion and a forgiving spirit. Mr. Gandhi used to say: "My life is my message." He often challenged the Christian missionaries to observe the "apostolate of the rose." A rose doesn't preach. It simply radiates its fragrance and attracts everyone to it by its irresistible beauty. Hence, the most important thing is not the Gospel we preach, but the life we live. This is how the early Christians evangelized. Their Gentile neighbors used to say: "See how these Christians love one another." The Christ they recognized and accepted was the Christ who lived in each Christian.

The Handbell Choir is returning to St. Augustine! Led by Bill Shaffer, come learn a little about music and teamwork. If you like to have some fun and meet some new people, this is for you! Anyone from ages 8-80 are welcome to join. No experience necessary, and no music reading ability necessary either. The choir is open to both hearing and deaf individuals.

Practice continues this Thursday at 6:30 pm in the church (we will be done by 7:30 pm). Don't panic: this is not a year-long commitment! I'd love to have you check it out for a couple weeks and see for yourself if it is the right ministry for you.

For comments or questions, please email Bill at BShaffer@StAugustineCleveland.org or call at (216) 781-5530.

“American Prometheus”

In Greek mythology, the Titan god Prometheus is condemned by Zeus for stealing fire from the gods and giving it to humans, thus giving the human race the means for their own destruction.

Kai Bird and Martin Sherwin titled their 2006 Pulitzer Prize-winning biography of J. Robert Oppenheimer American Prometheus — and now Christopher Nolan has based his extraordinary film Oppenheimer on Bird and Sherwin’s work. The book and film tell a story of genius, hubris and error, chronicling the life of the brilliant theoretical physicist, celebrated in some quarters as the father of the atomic bomb.

In 1942, despite his liberal political and social leanings and his “complicated” personal life, Oppenheimer is recruited by the U.S. government to head up the Manhattan Project. In the isolated Los Alamos, New Mexico desert, he heads a team of brilliant scientists and engineers to harness nuclear reactions to create a weapon that, they hoped, would end the war in Europe and the Pacific.

At the beginning, the goal of the project is clear: beat Hitler to the punch and save American lives. But what starts as a desperate military strategy to catch the Nazis becomes a moral quandary for Oppenheimer. He becomes haunted by the weapon he is creating.

It is the famed physicist Nils Bohr, Oppenheimer’s one-time teacher and mentor, who articulates so clearly what is at stake. Visiting the top-secret Los Alamos site, Bohr says to his student:

“The power you are about to reveal will forever outlive the Nazis, and the world is not prepared. We have to make the politicians understand, this isn’t a new weapon, it is a new world . . . You are an American Prometheus, the man who gave them the power to destroy themselves. And they’ll respect that. And your work really begins soon.”

Later, as he watches the first test bomb, Oppenheimer says aloud the infamous words that he said crossed his mind as the mushroom cloud rose over the New Mexico desert: “Now I am become death, the destroyer of worlds.”

The story of J. Robert Oppenheimer and the Manhattan Project begins as a battle between warring political and national entities, but Oppenheimer soon realizes his work transcends any battle lines — what he has midwived is the birth of a new world. Oppenheimer and Bohr come to understand that the lines we have drawn and the boundaries we have erected in order to make sense of our lives collapse before God. God calls us to realize his hand in all things, his spirit making all things whole and good, his vision creating a human family united in his peace, justice and mercy. The confrontation over Caesar’s coin is neither the final answer to any church-versus-state controversy nor an all-purpose formula for dealing with life’s big questions. Jesus appeals to us to look beyond the simplistic politics and black-and-white legalisms represented by Caesar’s coin and realize that we are called to embrace the values centered in a faith that sees the hand of God in all things and every human being as being part of one human family under the providence of God

Sunday Thought

Since all of us are familiar with the old adage that nothing is more certain in life than death and taxes today’s Gospel scene might seem a bit dated. While the cost of government has become a fact of life, the question remains as to whether we give all that we should to God. God is deserving of all of our heart and mind. Since we are God’s children, possibly we should take Jesus’ statement not so much as a challenge but as a deeper invitation to enter into the life we already possess. Like the Roman coin, we too have been stamped with an image, the image of God.

The Power of Prayer

The St. Augustine Prayer Chain is an email request line for prayers. Many parishioners are already a part of this chain. If you would like to be on the Prayer Chain, please email Bob at BDuda@StAugustineCleveland.org to be added to the Prayer Chain. You will then get emails from others requesting prayers, and you will be able to ask others for prayers for your needs. Your email address will not be shared with those asking for prayers.

Is God calling you to invite someone you know who is searching for a deeper faith in God to explore becoming Catholic? The Church prepares adults for Baptism, Confirmation and Eucharist through a process called Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA). The RCIA is designed to form the mind and heart in Christian discipleship through study of the basics of the Catholic faith, prayer and fellowship. If any of these are true for you or someone you know, then you are invited to contact the parish office to learn more and to register to join our RCIA group.

How Can I Become More Involved?

There are many ways for Catholics to get more involved in their faith and in the ministry of the Church. Those include liturgical ministries (choir member, lector, altar server, usher, or Eucharistic Minister), various parish ministries, as well as volunteer roles as collection counters, church decorators, gardeners, etc. Please contact Bob at BDuda@StAugustineCleveland.org or (216) 781-5530 ext. 31 to discern your gifts, your time, and your opportunities to serve.

Family Perspectives

Jesus was exasperated when he scolded: "Why do you put me to the test?" It is natural for children to test parents; this is how they learn and how we teach limits, rules and values. Be like Jesus in today's gospel; He was firm, honest and direct.

Parenting Tune-Up

Parents who pray together teach by the way they live that God is real; that he is present, listening, and eager to be part of our lives. Do you pray as a family? That is the best parenting you can give your children, for you are the first and best teachers of faith.

Relationship Tune-Up

Give to God what belongs to God! Giving the right place for God in your relationship is the best way to cement your relationship for good. That means seeing God's presence in your loved one, and thanking God for the gift that your loved one is to you, even when you are conscious of what is lacking in each other!

St. Augustine Seniors (50 and over)

You are invited to join the St. Augustine Seniors for their Halloween Party on Thursday, October 26th at 12 noon in Walsh Hall. Join in the fun and come in costume.

For more information on joining the Seniors please contact the parish office at (216) 781-5530.

On the Lighter Side

Two men were marooned on a deserted Island. One man paced back and forth worried and scared while the other man sat back and was sunning himself. The first man said to the second man, "Aren't you afraid that we are about to die?" "No," said the second man, "I make $100,000 a week and tithe faithfully ten percent of my salary to my church every single week of the year. I guarantee you...my Pastor will find me!"

October is Respect Life Month

Each weekend in October there will be a special bulletin article that addresses the Rite to Life & Respect for Life. The following is this week's reflection.

“God’s love-individual, real, unchanging-is the true source of our worth, identity, and dignity. It really is not a question of who we are, but rather whose we are. Because his love will never change, nothing can reduce our God-given dignity, and nothing can diminish the immeasurable worth of our lives.”

To understand more fully how to defend and protect human life, we must first consider who we are, at the deepest level. God creates us in his image and likeness, which means we are made to be in a loving relationship with him. The essence of our identity and worth, the source of our dignity, is that we are loved by God: "We are not the sum of our weaknesses and failures; we are the sum of the Father's love for us and our real capacity to become the image of his Son."
