Love Without Measure...

This is a reflection on the twelfth station, The Death of Jesus on the Cross, written by Reverend Joseph Nassal, C.P.P.S. It is part of the text for the Stations of the Cross, written by Father Joe at the request of Precious Blood Parish in Dayton following a Lenten Mission several years ago.

In Christ and through his blood we have been redeemed and our sins are forgiven. Making peace through the blood of his cross.

Philippians 2:5-8

Your attitude must be that of Christ. Though he was in the form of God, he did not deem equality with God something to be grasped at. Rather, he emptied himself and took the form of a slave, being born in our likeness. He was known to be of human estate, and it was thus that he humbled himself, obediently accepting even death, death on a cross!

Reflection

The testimony John renders in his telling of this scene is gruesome to hear: "One of the soldiers thrust a lance into his side, and immediately blood and water flowed out." Like the light streaming from the broken body of that young man, so love and life stream forth from the body of Christ. We know that our own experiences of pain and loss, of bruised hopes and broken hearts, that this testimony is true. It is in those places where we have experienced brokenness that we grow strongest.

This is one we can cling to, a view we can look to, in those moments of our lives when anger, resentment, and bitterness take hold of us when we have experienced injustice, unfairness, violence, brokenness. Where else can we look when physical illness slows us down or keeps us low to the ground: "They shall look to him whom they have pierced."

Where else can you look when life seems so unfair, or people seem not care, when love seems distant and we teeter on the brink of despair; when the world seems harsh or decisions by church authorities seem cruel, where else can we look? They shall look on him who they have pierced."

Prayer

Compassionate and Loving God,
As we take a long, loving look at the one who is pierced,
May we come to see how through the cracks and crevices
of our own broken and bruised hearts,
Your grace flows and your light glows.
When we look at the Precious Blood, symbol of love,
Flowing from the opening side of the one who gave his life,
We come to know there is no greater love than this.
When we look at the water, symbol of life,
Pouring out upon the ground,
Making streams that refresh soul, renews
Faith, wash wounds, and bathe the world in the beauty of new life,
We see the redeeming grace that renews the faith of the earth.
Through the water and blood of his cross, O God,
Change our attitude to reflect the presence of Christ in our world.

Fr. Bill

Silent Protest!

Henri Nouwen tells a disturbing story about a family he knew in Paraguay. The father, a doctor, was active in protests against the military. He spoke out repeatedly against its abuses of human rights. Local police took their revenge by arresting his teenage son and torturing him until he was dead. It was a horrible crime. Townsfolk wanted to turn the funeral into a huge protest march. But the doctor chose another means of protest. The father displayed his son's body in the local church. However, he was not dressed in a fine suit. And the funeral director applied no make-up. The father displayed his son as he had found him in the jail. The son was naked, his body marked with scars from the electric shocks and cigarette burns and beatings. It did not lie in a coffin but on the blood-soaked mattress from the jail. It was the strongest protest imaginable, for it put injustice on grotesque display.

See Christ hanging on the cross, showing all marks of cruel torture. Are we willing to follow him, not just to Church but in our daily life? Are we willing to entrust ourselves to Him even when the future is frightening or confusing, believing God has a plan? Are we willing to serve Him until that day when His plan for us on earth is fulfilled? Does his death on the cross matter to us? These are the questions of Palm Sunday. Let us take a fresh look at this familiar event. We might be surprised at what we see. It could change us forever.
